Fishers Island Community Center’s 5th Annual Turkey Trot included 145 runners and walkers on Thursday, November 26, 2015.

Spectacular weather set the stage for the Thanksgiving morning road race-walk. After registering at 8:15 (54 pre-registered) community members of all ages were off to the one or three-mile course at 9:00. Zach Hoch was the first back to the finish line (again this year), followed closely by Gardener Crary and Mackie Siebens. The 1st 3-mile runners to finish in each age category received a prize of maple syrup donated by the Cook Farm that has been in the family since 1847. The 1st 1-milers to finish received Community Center gift certificates. Thank you to Chef Brian Busse for the delicious pancake breakfast the Island Café served from 9-11 that morning!

Identified winners:

1 Mile
18 & Under   Eliza Trevor and Walker Reid
30 & Under   Whitney Edwards and Tim Hoch
50 & Under   Trudi Edwards
70 & Under   Louisa Evans and Luke Fowler

Many thank yous go out to the FICC Turkey Trot’s generous sponsors including Race Rock Gardening, Mystic Isle Realty, The Beach Plum, Fishers Island Village Market, Fishers Island Oyster Farm and Fix It Spoffy. Some 2013 and 2014 Turkey Trot long sleeved t-shirts are available at the FICC. 2015 are sold out! Turkey Trot registration fees and t-shirt sales benefit the Fishers Island Community Center’s programs and operations. (Please visit FishersIsland.net for more photos.)

During the Fishers Island School trip to Washington, DC, the 44 upper school students (grades 7-12) took time to visit the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier yesterday, Tuesday, November 10, 2015 at Arlington Cemetery.

“Thanks to our amazing students, we enjoyed a wonderful and highly educational trip to our nation’s capital. Our teacher chaperones (and the principal!) beamed with pride as our students earned praise from every tour guide we met for their strong knowledge of history, their exemplary behavior and their deep respect for their country. Special thanks to our Board of Education for supporting this important authentic learning opportunity and to our chaperones who devoted personal/family time to make the trip happen: Linda Bean, Michael George, Carol Giles, Jess Hall, Jared Kaplan, Carrie Sawyer, Gil Amaral, and Trip Committee Chairman, Chris Dollar.” ~ Your partner in education, Karen Goodwin

Wreath laid at the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier by FIS Senior Connor Beverly.
Fishers Island has an office separated from both L+M and Westerly Hospitals by water. This physical breach makes the practice something akin to an old-fashioned country doctor’s office – except for its modern equipment, its preparedness, and, well, tides and seagulls.

As the crow flies, Fishers Island is just a couple miles off the southeastern Connecticut coast, yet this singular chunk of the State of New York is many more miles apart in terms of its moods and rhythms.

Like any island, “Fishers” has its unique vibe, and so too does its medical office – the most remote outpost within the L+M Medical Group.

“We love it out here and it’s a privilege to do what we do,” says Dr. Chris Ingram, the island’s physician. “There’s recognition that this community is a little unique, so its medical needs should be addressed uniquely.”

While the L+M Medical Group serves patients all along the southeastern Connecticut coast and well into Rhode Island, only Fishers Island has an office separated from both L+M and Westerly Hospitals by water. This physical breach makes the practice something akin to an old-fashioned country doctor’s office – except for its modern equipment, its preparedness, and, well, tides and seagulls.

For Dr. Ingram and his staff, the ebbs and flows on Fishers Island include quiet winters with shuttered beach homes and as few as 250 residents, followed in time by the seasonal surge of summer, when as many as 5,500 residents and guests can fill the island on a holiday weekend.

Primary care appointments are common in winter; summer is typically more frenetic. “We go from being extremely busy for two to three months to days in winter when we might not see a single patient, like after a big snowstorm,” says Dianna Shillo, practice supervisor. “But the office is a vital part of our community. It’s like the school we have on the island. If you lose that, you don’t have a community.”

Others agree. “We’re thrilled to have a doctor of Chris Ingram’s stature,” says Susie Parsons, President of the Island Health Project, which provides key funding to the island’s medical office. “Chris is not only available to take care of and see patients 24/7, but he is very interested in the arts and enjoys the company of the island community.”

Jane Ahrens, a year-round resident and editor of FishersIsland.net, echoed similar thoughts. “From bike scrapes and stitches to poison ivy, allergies, and vaccines – and to major medical assistance – it is so nice not to have to catch the ferry for regular appointments or mishaps,” she said. “And having access to L+M for further assistance or follow-up makes island living feel less remote.”

Island residents take comfort knowing that Dr. Ingram is experienced in emergency medicine. He trained as a resident in emergency medicine at St. Luke’s Roosevelt Hospital in New York, and then served as an attending physician in the Emergency Department at Columbia Presbyterian Hospital in New York.

When a crisis situation arises, Dr. Ingram works closely with the island’s dedicated Fire Department and Emergency Medical Technicians. If needed, Dr. Ingram can also call on the “Sea Stretcher,” an emergency vessel that is equipped and ready to transport patients to a dock in New London, and a waiting ambulance, for transport to L+M Hospital.

But on many days, particularly in off-season, Dr. Ingram, Di Shillo, Kapri Thomas, medical assistant, and Jamie Doucette, patient coordinator, enjoy a unique camaraderie, both with each other and with their regular patients. Follow-up consults in the local market and house calls are often part of the routine, and conversations in the exam rooms often stray into chats about life on the island.

Miggie and Barry Bryan, year-round residents since 2000, arrived at the doctor’s office one day this past winter. A recent snow had blanketed the island, but the Medical Office was freshly plowed. Dr. Ingram arrived with a dozen eggs from his home chicken coop, offering them to a visitor. Miggie Bryan had an appointment, but before she got to the exam room, Barry presented Dr. Ingram with a bag of goodies: several pieces of “stinky” cheese from the Ideal Cheese Shop on 1st Avenue in Manhattan.

FROM MÉLIE’S GARDEN

It is holiday time again, which is hard to believe with the warm weather, but Christmas is just around the corner according to the calendar. So I was thinking about what gifts a gardener would like to receive from Santa this year and came up with the following things for a stocking.

The Gardener’s Christmas Stocking

Dandelion Weedier – a long hand tool that is handy to get out long roots.
Cobra Weedier – a curved headed tool that gets weeds between cracks.
Nejiri Gama Hoe – a small Japanese hand hoe with a sharp triangular blade, which is the best cultivating tool I have.
Surveyor’s Tape – this red tape is great for marking vines you want to go back and kill after clearing underbrush.
Green Plastic Tape – is very handy to tie roses to a trellis or tomatoes to a support.
Clear Plastic Tape – crisscross this tape across the top of a vase to create a grid to hold flowers in place.
Fiskars Pruning Shears – they are the best, easy on arthritic hands and wrists.
Ikebana Scissors – very sharp Japanese flower arranging scissors.
Nitrile Gloves – the best gardening gloves I have found, they are strong but lightweight.
Seeds – early varieties like sweet peas, spinach, sugar snap peas and lettuce.
Stenographer’s Note Book & Pen – my favorite type of pad to take notes on in the garden. My whole life is organized on a stenographer’s pad – maybe that is because both my husband and I had stepmothers who were secretaries… And finally, a fifty-dollar bill, which John added to the photo of the stocking saying, “It takes money to garden. You are always wanting to buy something to put in it!” Merry Christmas everyone!

“It’s sort of a tradition,” Barry explained. “Whenever one of us goes to the city, we bring something back for the other. It’s all part of the treatment, you realize. It’s holistic medicine.

“Honestly,” Bryan added, “it would be hard to think about living out here year-round without him. My wife and I, we’re both 85-ish, and I don’t think we could do it without Chris and his crew.”

Dr. Ingram prides himself on being able to take extra time with his regular patients, many of whom are also his neighbors and friends.

“It’s a higher level of attention that I can afford because I’m not as busy as the next guy,” Dr. Ingram said. “But, it’s also sort of the pact that I’ve made, not explicitly, but implicitly, with the community, and that’s why I think it works so well.”

Dr. Ingram sometimes recalls how his life used to be, working long shifts in emergency rooms in New York, perhaps sitting down for just a few minutes over an entire shift, catching his breath and then rushing to see the next patient, providing a diagnosis within minutes.

Fishers Island has changed all that.

“In most cases,” Dr. Ingram says, “I can sit down and spend a half an hour with the patient, sometimes 45 minutes on a quiet day. I can sit and talk and find out and actually think about what the person is telling me. It’s a luxury both for them and for me.”
IN MEMORIAM: RICHARD “DICK” HOCH

Richard “Dick” Hoch, 75, of Fishers Island, passed away November 15, 2015, at Lawrence + Memorial Hospital in New London.

Dick was the son of Dr. Ralph K. Hoch, the island doctor on Fishers Island for many years, and Ethel Alice Hoch.

Dick was employed for more than 40 years as the freight agent on the island for the Fishers Island Ferry District.

He served three years in the U.S. Navy and earned a bachelor of arts degree in elementary education from SUNY New Paltz. In addition to his position with the Ferry District, Dick coached many youth teams in basketball at the Fishers Island School. He developed an interest in running in his late 30s, and competed in many races of various lengths across the country, including marathons, ultra-marathons, and trail races. In 1983, he ran in the Boston Marathon. He remained competitive into his last year.

He was also a generous contributor throughout his life to many charities and organizations, including the American Friends Service Committee, Amnesty International, the Christian Children’s Fund, the Children’s Defense Fund, Greenpeace, the Southern Poverty Law Center, the United Farm Workers, the Unitarian Universalist Service Committee, and the Fishers Island Fire Department.

Dick is survived by three sisters, Barbara E. Hoch of Fishers Island, Carol Ann Peffley of Groton, CT, Susanae Hoch Glovacki of Greenfield, MA; a brother, David Hoch of Fishers Island; and many nieces and nephews, who considered him a grandfather figure. He was considered their biggest fan and supporter.

Donations in his name may be made to the Sea Stretcher Fund, Fishers Island Fire Department, P.O. Box 222, Fishers Island, NY 06390. The Memorial Service will be held on Fishers Island on Saturday, December 12 at 1:00 pm at Union Chapel.

The new generator is here! Help us get it up and running!

Island living has so many positive moments, but when the basic necessities are unavailable for a period of time it becomes a matter of emergency. This island and its utilities have been fortunate to withstand many hurricanes and other storms but when electric power is not available, basic needs including communications and heat become the focus.

Hurricane Sandy and Katrina passed us by with just a few hours of inconvenience. A small generator was hooked up at Fishers Island School and it was able to provide power for lights and a place where families go to find shelter and electricity for those modern needs like recharging phones to stay in touch. Most of the recharging of EMT and fire volunteer pagers, along with cell phones and computers was able to occur at the firehouse which is the Emergency Operations Center and has a propane powered generator for running the firehouse and EOC functions. Hurricane season usually does not include the necessity for heat so that was not a big consideration.

However, we were faced with a major winter storm last winter that could have been devastating, particularly for those in need of a warm place to seek refuge in a blizzard or sub-freezing temperatures. The community rallied and moved all the cots to the Fire House and the Utility building, both of which have generators to keep their operations going. This exercise was an eye opener! If the shelter at the school had been needed last winter, it would have had room for the year-round residents, but there would not have been heat nor the ability to cook on the school’s stove.

A group of concerned citizens proceeded to research obtaining a permanent full-service generator for our island designated emergency shelter – Fishers Island School. And as a result, they procured a donation of a brand new generator and the required switches, collectively valued at over $75,000. This has been delivered and is ready to be installed at the school campus. It is capable of running the whole building, including the heating, the kitchen appliances, and bathrooms, enabling the entire community, even in the peak season, a safe place – a true emergency shelter.

Now we need to get the rest of the work done to have it up and running before this winter sets in. A cement pad must be poured before the ground freezes.

$45,000 Fundraising goal
- $20,000 from Southold (this is in the 2016 Town budget and is forthcoming)
$25,000 remaining to be raised by January 1, 2016

The funds to be raised will be used – and are necessary – to pull the essential permits and begin the work of installing the generator and its switching mechanism and electrical hardware after pouring the cement slab. Funds will also cover generator maintenance and emergency shelter supply needs.

Donations may be made through this link: https://www.gofundme.com/g6bk8sb or by check. Please make checks to the Fishers Island Fire Department and add GENERATOR in the check Memo. Any funds in excess of the goal will be set aside for annual maintenance to the generator, fuel and if possible will also help the shelter purchase new items such as extra beds, blankets and first aid essentials.

With your help, we can make this happen and have a safe and reliable emergency shelter on Fishers Island.

Thank you for your consideration,
Fishers Island Emergency Shelter Fund

THANK YOU FROM ISLANDERS FOR ISLANDERS FUND

Thank you to everyone who has contributed to the Islanders for Islanders initiative. Your thoughtfulness and generosity are a boost to our Island community. Donations are helping families meet food and utility bills on the island, and visitors to the food reserve at Union Chapel are also very grateful to have access to the stash of “cabinet stuffers.” As one mother explains, “The shelves are so appreciated. It gives you a sense of security when you don’t have that sense of security each week in terms of food, or what to put in your kids’ lunch bag. It’s amazing. It’s a blessing.”
